New Drive by S. Vietnam in Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops pushed a new sweep in southeast Cambodia today, trying to block North Vietnamese and Viet Cong supply routes leading through the Plain of Reeds toward Saigon.

The operation was launched Sunday several hours before Viet Cong guerrillas shelled Saigon for the first time in 3½ months. Authorities said the four rockets killed seven Vietnamese civilians, including four children, wounded 25 Vietnamese civilians and destroyed seven houses.

Meanwhile, hundreds of South Vietnamese militiamen crossed the Cambodian border about 100 miles west of Saigon and began sweeping along the eastern banks of the Mekong River about 50 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

Supported by their own helicopter gunships, the South Vietnamese claimed killing 43 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, and capturing six prisoners, four rifles, 46 hand grenades, eight mines and a quantity of munitions.

South Vietnamese headquarters said the only government casualties were four militiamen wounded.

In another area of Cambodia, more than 100 miles to the northeast, other South Vietnamese forces reported finding the bodies of 65 North Vietnamese soldiers near the rubber plantation town of Snuol. Spokesmen said most of them had been killed by air and artillery strikes. No South Vietnamese casualties were reported.

The new operation raised the number of South Vietnamese troops in Cambodia to more than 16,000, the Saigon government said.

Cambodian military headquarters in Phnom Penh reported that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops made a rare daylight assault on Cambodia forces attempting to keep open the only supply route into the provincial capital of Kampong Thom, 23 miles north of Phnom Penh.

First reports said one Cambodian soldier was killed and four others were wounded, but such initial reports often underestimate casualties considerably, particularly for Cambodia forces. Enemy losses were not reported.

The U.S. Command in Saigon continued accelerated troop cutbacks in Vietnam to meet President Nixon's target of 20,000 by Dec. 31.

Tuesday's Election at a Glance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here, at a glance, is the situation facing voters Tuesday in what President Nixon has termed "probably the most important and decisive" election in the nation's history.

At Stake
Thirty-five U.S. Senate seats, all 435 House of Representatives seats and 35 governorships.

ISSUES
Various local issues and personalities of candidates preclude a clear-cut definition of major issues on a national level. But the Republicans have stressed law-and-order with President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew leading the way in their unprecedented campaign efforts. The Democrats have pressed hard on the nation's troubled economy in their campaigning.

OUTLOOK
Many races are too close to call. The Democrats, however, are considered all but certain to maintain control of Congress, but are not likely to make the gains traditional to the party out of the White House in past off-year elections.

Most polls now indicate a net Republican gain in the Senate of one to three seats. Democrats now hold a 57 to 43 edge. Democrats are expected to increase their current 243-187 margin in the House, but not by the average 37-seat gain of past off-year elections. A Democratic increase of three or four governorships also is expected. They now hold 18 state houses.

More Than 600,000 Are Expected to Vote in Tuesday's Election

ST. LAURENT DU POINT, France (AP) — French authorities pressed an investigation today to determine why 143 persons died in a weekend dance hall fire in this mountain town 24 miles northwest of Grenoble.

Firemen pulled 142 corpses from the ruins. Ten other persons were injured, and one of them died today.

From accounts of the 20-odd survivors of the Halloween night fire, it appeared that the young dancers panicked and piled up against the exit doors. There were some reports that the four exits from the one-story, steel-frame building were locked and even boarded up, but others contradicted this.

A throng of young people, mostly 18 to 25, had flocked to the Cinq-Sept Dance Hall from several villages in the region. The hall was hung with plastic decorations, giving it the appearance of a cave. A five-piece orchestra, called the Storm, promised to create a "hurricane on the stage."

About 1:45 a.m., according to Belle Dumez, the 21-year-old cashier, "some smoke started coming from the ceiling, then flames burst out." She was dragged out of the hall with her hair burning.

"The place went up like a match," said one of 30 village firemen who were seen on the scene.

When the firemen broke into the building they found burned and twisted bodies piled up five or six feet high near the exits. Officials, including Secretary of State Jacques Baumel, heard reports that the blaze was caused either by a short circuit or by a cigarette butt tossed playfully onto someone.

One survivor, Daniel Guette, 17, said the exit doors had been padlocked and nailed over them to keep out gaterashers. One fireman said the doors were locked from the inside and the firemen had to break them down.

Hardest Fought Vote Drive in Years Comes to a Close Monday

By GAYLORD SHAW

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the century's hardest fought mid-term election campaigns rumbles to a close today as President Nixon and candidates from coast-to-coast fill the final hours with multimedia appeals for support.

At stake in Tuesday's election termed by Nixon "probably the most important and decisive" in the nation's history—are 35 Senate seats, 35 governorships and a new House of Representatives.

Many races were cliff-hangers, but it appeared virtually certain Democrats would retain control of Congress and pick up several governorships.

Nixon, who had joined Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in a concentrated 35-state campaign blitz, goes on nationwide television tonight to sound an election eve appeal for more Republicans in Congress.

In the prime time replay of weekend campaign speeches, Nixon will hit again at the GOP's law-and-order theme, calling on "the great silent majority" to speak out in the polling booth "against the appeasement of the rock throwers and the obscenity shouters in America."

Democrats responded by demanding free network time to answer what Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, called "the LITTLE ROCK (AP) — At least 600,000 Arkansians are expected to go to the polls for Tuesday's general election in which voters will choose from among three gubernatorial candidates — Republican governor Winthrop Rockefeller, Democrat Dale Bumpers and American party nominee Walter Caruth.

The vote predictions are based not only on the interest generated in the governor's race, but also interest in other items that will be on the ballot, including the proposed new state constitution to replace the present Constitution of 1874.

Other items on the ballot are three contested races for other constitutional offices, the proposed repeal of the state's "full crew" train law and an increase in the corporate franchise tax from 11-hundredths of 1 per cent to 13-hundredths of 1 per cent to construct a state library.

In the 3rd Congressional District Republican Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt seeks a third term. He is opposed by Democrat Donald Poe, 65, a Waldron lawyer.

In addition, 48 legislative seats — 10 in the Senate and 38 in the House will be contested.

Ray H. Thornton Jr. of Sheridan, the Democratic nominee, and John Norman Warnock of Camden, the American party candidate, oppose each other for attorney general.

State Rep. Sterling Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock, who switched from the Democratic party to the GOP earlier this year, Democrat Bob Riley of Arkansas, and American party nominee Hubert L. Blanton of Hughes are the candidates for lieutenant governor. Maurice Britt, the Republican incumbent, did not seek election to a third term.

Secretary of State Kelly Bryant, a Democrat seeking a fifth term, is opposed by Republican Jim Sheets of Silvan Springs, a former state representative. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7:30 p.m.

The National Weather Service says there is a chance for showers in the south portion of the state on election day. The weather outlook for the period that includes Tuesday calls for clear to partly cloudy skies with highs during the day in the upper 50s and 60s.

Republican tactics of fear and division.

Most Democratic candidates have pitched their campaigns on the pocketbook issues of inflation and unemployment, and Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said the election is "in a sense a referendum on the administration, its policy and its records—the President and the vice president."

As the rough-and-tumble campaign neared an end, politicians debated whether Republicans would succeed in slicing into the Democrats' 57-43 edge in the Senate and 243-187 margin in the House, and whether Democrats would cut down the GOP's 32-18 lead in governorships.

O'Brien said Democrats "will maintain our position in the House, will continue to have a majority in the Senate and will have a significant gain in governorships."

Republican Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton countered: "We will have a victory ... if we hold our own or do well in the Senate, and break the tradition of losing in off-year elections in the House ..."

"If we break even, it would be pretty good," said Nixon's communications chief, Herb Klein, in a comment indicative of the steady lowering of election sights that have emanated from the White House in recent weeks.

Cuba Gives Hijacker Big Welcome

By WILLIAM GARVEY

Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP)—A gunman wearing the brown beret of the militant Mexican-American Chicano movement received a backslapping welcome to Communist Cuba today after forcing a United Airlines jet from California to Havana, passengers said.

Crewmen aboard United Air line Flight 598 bound for Portland, Ore., said the leather-jacketed, mustachioed man placed a gun at the side of stewardess Nicki Leutar shortly after takeoff from San Diego.

Using the 21-year-old stewardess as a hostage, the gunman forced his way into the cabin and shouted to Capt. Joe Kolons: "Cuba! Cuba!"

Kolons diverted the aircraft and flew to Tijuana, Mexico, where more fuel was taken aboard the Boeing 727, and then set course for Havana's Jose Marti Airport. Seventy-five persons were aboard the jet, the second U.S. airliner hijacked to Cuba during the weekend.

Kolons said the gunman crouched on a shelf behind the pilot's seat throughout the flight from San Diego to Havana, keeping Miss Leutar or other hostesses in front of his gun at all times.

At one point, Kolons said, he told a stewardess to pull a brown beret from his pocket and place it on his head.

"I mean business. This is a Chicano operation," Kolons quoted the gunman as saying. The beret carried the cross-ripped insignia of the Chicanos, the captain said.

Passengers and crewmen said the hijacker, who boarded the plane with two small children in San Diego, appeared delighted when he arrived in Cuba.

"His face seemed to just light up," said Stewardess Margie Guggisberg, 27. "He was just very, very proud."

Two coeds aboard the jet as passengers said a Cuban militiaman gave the gunman a warm greeting at the Havana airport.

"When we landed, I saw the guy in the khaki uniform patting him on the back as they were walking away," said 19-year-old Deborah Ferguson of San Diego. Jacque Elcomb, another 18-year-old student from San Diego, said the militiaman and the gunman kept up the close contact as they disappeared from view.

The two children left the plane with the gunman. They had remained in the plane's coach area during the flight, playing with toys or talking with stewardesses.

Crewmen said the hijacking delayed his departure from the aircraft long enough to retrieve a fishing rod he had carried aboard in San Diego.

The plane landed in Miami at 7:24 a.m. today after spending about three hours on the ground in Cuba.

Air Crashes Take Lives of 9 Persons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two in-flight collisions involving light aircraft—one over Seattle and the other over Missoula, Mont.—took the lives of nine persons Sunday.

Five persons died when a two-passenger plane and a larger aircraft carrying members of the University of Montana Silver Tip Sky Diving Club collided over Missoula. There was one survivor.

In the Seattle crash, four persons were killed when their light plane and another collided in flight. The light plane lost a wing and plummeted to the ground. The second plane, carrying two persons, landed safely at Seattle's Boeing Field.

The survivor of the Missoula mishap, James Ledbetter, 41, of Great Falls, Mont., bailed out of the larger aircraft after the two planes hit. He landed unconscious in a high school football field. He was treated for shock at a Missoula hospital, then released.

Another one of those in the larger plane also bailed out but was found dead in an irrigation ditch.

Mandate on Runoff Ruling

By BILL SIMMONS

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court issued today an immediate mandate in its ruling that a runoff will not be required if none of the three candidates for governor receives a majority vote.

The mandate gives the Supreme Court ruling, handed down last week, immediate effect. Rulings normally do not take effect until 17 days after they are issued.

The issuance of the mandate puts the high court finding into effect in time to cover the voting in the general election Tuesday. The effect of the ruling is that the candidate who receives the largest number of votes, even if his total is short of a majority, shall be deemed elected.

The ruling was handed down in a suit brought against the Democratic members of the state Board of Election Commissioners by the Republican members of the board. The two sides had agreed to file the suit to clarify election procedures.

The question arose because the General Assembly approved a bill in 1969 to require a runoff if no one received a majority vote. The Supreme Court held that the runoff law was void because it conflicted with the state Constitution.

Cold Due to Hit All of Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Weather Service is predicting winter weather for Arkansas through Tuesday in the wake of rain and snow reported in the Northwest section of the state Sunday.

The weather service said that up to two inches of snow was reported in sections of Northwest Arkansas Sunday night, but due to warm surface conditions the snow melted with only a trace remaining on bridges.

Fair and cool weather will be in the weather picture through Tuesday with a freeze likely in the north and frost most of the remainder of the state tonight. High temperatures Sunday ranged from 74 at El Dorado to 43 at Fayetteville.

Overnight lows included 31 at Fayetteville and Harrison, 40 at Jonesboro, 42 at Pine Bluff, 38 at Texarkana, 44 at El Dorado, 43 at Memphis, 41 at Little Rock and 35 at Fort Smith.

Revenue Commissioner A. B. Herve Jr. said special revenues were $106,767 below the sums collected in October of the last fiscal year and general revenue collections were down $1,449.

Congressmen Angry, Will Return Funds

By JAMES R. POLK

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angry congressmen vowed today to return any campaign contributions from a bankers' political fund accused of trying to sway a pending bill on bank regulation.

More than $40,000 in campaign donations for members of both the House and Senate banking committees have been listed by the Bankers Political Action Committee fund in a sworn report to Congress. The Justice Department has launched an investigation.

Many of the lawmakers named in the report said today they have not received the money and will turn it away if it arrives. "I don't have five cents from any bank or banker," said one congressman.

The heated reaction raised the possibility the bank fund might backfire when Congress returns two weeks after election day to act on a bill to ban one-bank holding companies from branching out into other business areas.

A 1956 law already bars holding companies that control two or more banks from buying into other unrelated business enterprises. The pending bill would extend this ban to conglomerates that control only a single bank.

Most of the contributions were dated over the last few days. One congressman's aide quoted a fund official as saying the donation was in the mail and was being sent through a banker in the lawmaker's home state.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, charged the contributions were an obvious effort by the bankers to influence action on the regulatory bill.

Patman asserted: "They are trying to weaken the holding bill. Now is the time to spread the money around if they want to influence it."

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon will climax his strenuous role in the 1970 campaign by appearing on major television networks tonight in filmed segments of a speech decrying violent dissent.

The Western White House announced late Sunday that the Republican National Committee had purchased time on ABC, CBS and NBC for broadcasts featuring excerpts from Nixon's speech Saturday in Phoenix in which he called for a "tough-minded approach to violence."

Nixon, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Republican candidates across the land have worked hard to make "law and order" a prime issue. The President carried the effort forward Sunday after a two-hour meeting here with Agnew.

In a directive that ostensibly had no connection with Tuesday's election, Nixon expressed deep concern about "the growing problem of assaults on police officers," and ordered the Justice Department to extend "all appropriate investigative resources" to state and local authorities in such cases.

Agnew emerged from his session with Nixon to accuse Democratic candidates of using what he termed unfair, deplorable and despicable tactics—"the tactic of the big lie"—in the final weeks of their vote quests.

At a news conference, Agnew said: "Particularly with regard to the economy, we find that they are continuing to accentuate a fear that this country is heading into a recession or a depression, or something worse. We find the economic indicators are all in the opposite direction."

Democrats have emphasized continuing inflation, recent growth in unemployment and other economic issues during the campaign.

Agnew called this "the kind of fear or scare tactics that they constantly accuse me of using." He said, "The Democratic party in 40 years has never been able to achieve full employment, except in time of war or a time of preparation for war."

The vice president attributed to Democrats a series of rumors in California, Utah and Nevada that after the election the Nixon administration would shut down or curtail some federal facilities in those states.

"I want to brand those statements as absolutely false and maliciously false," he said.

With their wives, Nixon and Agnew flew in separate helicopters Sunday to the San Diego suburb of La Jolla to attend services at a mission-style Pres-

THOUGHTS

"For the thing that I fear comes upon me, and what I dread befalls me. I am not at ease, nor am I quiet; I have no rest; but trouble comes."—Job 3:25, 26.

Worry never robs tomorrow of its sorrow, but only saps today of its strength.—A. J. Cronin, British author.

We are challenged by the need to pass on skills and knowledge to our ever-increasing body of youth to prepare them to live and contribute to the betterment of this complex society.—Hubert H. Humphrey.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Television was thoroughly preoccupied with politics over the week-end.

Television news departments network as well as local stations—have the form and the handling of political public affairs shows down cold. There is not much that can be done beyond debates, interviews and discussions, but they are done smoothly. The commercial-makers specializing in selling candidates are specialists.

There is also the governor of "The Governor and J. J." up for re-election, and Oliver and Lisa Douglas of "Green Acres" are opposing each other in a local mayoralty race. Both of these are just for laughs.

"The Senator" segment of NBC's "The Bold Ones," however, takes politics seriously—grimly really—and came on very strong Sunday night with a tough-talking drama about cynical men and practical men and the buying and selling of public office. It carried special impact with its look behind the smoke-filled rooms.

The series-within-a-series, which stars Hal Holbrook as the high-minded and determined U.S. senator, shapes up as the most adult and interesting of the trio of series that make up the programs.

The senator on Sunday night was tangling with his state party chairman to prevent the nomination of a rich party benefactor for a vacant congressional seat for which he was thoroughly unqualified. The senator, determined to pass a vital educational bill, was threatened with loss of needed party support if he did not go along with the nomination.

There was little action and lots of talk during the hour, but it still managed to be exciting and illuminating. And, naturally, the good guys won.

When CBS decided to star Glen Campbell in a variety hour several seasons back, Tom Smothers—who owned an important portion of the show—decided that since Campbell was not well known, the show needed more than the singer's name in the title. Thus it became "The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour."

Campbell is certainly well known today. His is the strongest show in CBS's Sunday night lineup. And one of the really distinguishing marks of the program is that Glen and his guests really do seem to be having a good time.

The music is excellent—country-Western and informal in mood but laced with enough standards to please even Lawrence Welk fans.

The comedy sketches are no better or worse than those on other variety hours—where the average is pretty dismal. Glen, who makes singing and guitar picking look so easy, is a highly tentative actor but he seems to enjoy it.

Sunday night, he played a truck driver in a skit unworthy of the talents of his guest, Bob Newhart, and later was the bartender in handlebar mustache in a saloon sketch with Johnny Cash playing a Western bad guy.

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. TRUMAN D. ARRINGTON

The wedding of Miss Sharon Kay Huneycutt and Truman Dwayne Arrington was solemnized in Berry Chapel on the campus of Ouachita Baptist University in an evening ceremony, Friday September 25. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Huneycutt and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Truman Arrington, all of Hope.

Dr. Weldon E. Vogt officiated at the double ring candlelight ceremony. Miss Ouida Eppinette of Little Rock, organist, and Miss Linda Selph of Benton, soloist, who sang "Eternal Life" and "The Wedding Prayer," provided the nuptial music.

Mr. Huneycutt gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of chiffon over silk was designed with a bolero bodice having a Mandarin collar, bishop sleeves, and demi-fitted skirt. The skirt and bodice were ornamented with appliques fell from a narrow silk band covered by white pom-pom chrysanthemums. She carried a bouquet of white pom-pom chrysanthemums, stephanotis, and an orchid. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Judy Huneycutt, sister of the bride, was her honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Fray of North Little Rock and Mrs. Eddie Buffington of Arkadelphia.

The bridesmaids' dresses were identical gold-colored silk in pattern identical to the bride's dress. Bows of matching silk were worn in their hair. They carried cressants of multi-colored pom-pom chrysanthemums and daisies.

Mr. Arrington served his son as best man. Groomsman were Gilbert Brown of Hope and Eddie Buffington of Arkadelphia.

Serving as ushers and candlelighters were Don Plunkett of Gilham and Lloyd Bright of Arkadelphia.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Drawing Room of the Student Union on campus. Serving at the bride's table were Miss Lanette Arrington, sister of the groom, Miss Dianne Heard of Booneville, Miss Joy Roswell of McGehee, and Mrs. Charles Murphy of Arkadelphia. Miss Kathy Ottwell of Malvern attended the bride's book.

After a short wedding trip, the couple is now at home in Arkadelphia where the bride is a student at Ouachita Baptist University and the groom is a student at Henderson State College.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

"EVERYBODY'S A CRITIC!" SAYS EDITOR

Dear Helen: "Divisive!" That's the word President Johnson popularized. Then came President Nixon with his ode to the Silent Majority.

As a longtime newspaperman, I'm here to say "divisiveness" has made the "silent majority" mighty vocal!

In my 32 years of close association with the printed word (from obits to editor), I have never seen the American public more easily riled about practically everything. During the silent Fifties, we had a tough go filling the one-column "Letters to the Editor" slot. Now, we run almost a whole page and the vitriol we don't print would singe your ears.

I'm wondering: Is this deluge reserved mainly for editors or do businessmen—even lady columnists—get flooded with customer complaints these days? —OVERRUN EDITOR

Dear Ed: A well-known and highly popular syndicated political columnist (male) writes me: "The hate mail reaching me and my colleagues these days is the worst it has been in 20 years." I can't speak for businessmen, but "Kill the computer" letters alone should keep them jumping. Lady columnists? Yup—even us! Certain factions scream "Communism" each time I write favorably of sex education, abortion, the peace symbol, the older generation.

You evidently do not know history or you would not make such a mistake as this. — AN UNCONFUSED SERB

Dear Helen:

I am a Croat who came here from Yugoslavia many years ago. The old feuds should be forgotten—but don't think "Confused Serb" is not real. The past is not easily gone for those who suffered in the religious wars of the 1940s. — FROM CROATIA

Dear Serbs and Croats who Put Me Straight: I have now read my history books. May I revise my answer to say: Dear Confused Serb: The wars of the parents should not be visited on the children. Forget ancient history and stay friends! — H.

Bumpers Hopes New Taxes Not Needed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dale Bumpers, the Democratic candidate for governor, said Sunday night that he hoped the state could get by without additional taxes, but that he had never said it could.

Bumpers had said previously that he would seek new taxes from the legislature if the state's natural growth rate and economies in government did not provide the funds required to meet pressing state needs.

He repeated that more money was needed for teachers' salaries and higher education.

Longshot Winner of Sahara Meet

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Babe Hiskey, an obscure, off-the-board longshot, ended five years of troubles, struggles and bitter frustration when he won the $100,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament.

"It's been a struggle," the 31-year-old Hiskey said Sunday after scoring by a single shot. "All my life it's been a struggle. Not just golf, everything. Finishing college, everything."

"It's a real victory for me and my dad. I bought a car after winning the Cajun Classic in 1965. And I've had it ever since. It had over 150,000 miles on it, and we burned it out last week."

"My dad bought us a car. If it hadn't been for that, well, I probably wouldn't be here."

Hiskey shot a careful par 71 on the Paradise Valley Country Club course and finished with a 72-hole total of 276, one stroke ahead of Terry Dill, Miller Barber and former Masters champion Bob Goalby. Dill had a 65, Goalby a 66 and Barber a 68 on the final day.

Larry Hinson, 68, and Tommy Aaron, 71, followed at 278. The group at 279 included Masters champion Billy Casper and PGA title-holder Dave Stockton.

Jack Nicklaus, the defending champion, never was a factor in the tournament. He had a final round 71 and finished far from the hole, a 45-yard, dogleg par four with water guarding the green.

Hiskey drove the fairway, put his second to the left, away from the water and some 50 feet from the flag. He lagged it down to 18 inches and sank the putt that just about doubled his income for the last two years.

The victory was worth $20,000 to the husky six-footer. He had won only $6,600 earlier this year and only $3,600 all of last year.

He's been broke, lost his player's card for poor play, was suspended from the tour, went broke in contracting work and played his way back on the tour.

"Sometimes I had to borrow from my dad to make it to the next tournament," said Hiskey, a native of Idaho now living Texas. "But I never had to borrow from my friends."

"I've never really thought about leaving the tour. I have determination, the will to win. This is my career."

"I wasn't too nervous," said Hiskey, who had a two-stroke lead going into the final day.

"I figured it couldn't be any worse than trying to qualify on Mondays. Man, that's tough."

"I figured I'd play my game and let those guys try to catch me."

Things Look Rosie for Stanford

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Everything's coming up roses for the Stanford Indians and Jim Plunkett, their Mexican-American beauty quarterback, but Coach John Ralston is worried about a thorny problem called Washington.

While sixth-ranked Stanford was trouncing Oregon State 48-10 Saturday and moving within one victory of representing the Pacific-8 in the Rose Bowl, Southern California, rated 18th, was losing to California 13-10 and seeing its hopes for a fifth consecutive trip to Pasadena wiped out.

Washington, meanwhile, downed 16th-ranked Oregon 25-23 on Steve Weizbowski's 19-yard field goal with 40 seconds left and dropped the Ducks 1½ games behind Stanford.

Mathematically, Oregon, UCLA, California and Washington all have a shot at the roses but a Stanford triumph over Washington this weekend will end all that and send the Indians to Pasadena for the first time since 1952.

Ralston was asked if he thought Stanford might get too high for Washington and he snorted: "No, sir! We want 'em as high as they can get. We want to win the championship outright and we'd much rather play for the championship this week than on Nov. 21 against California."

While Plunkett was passing for 210 yards and three touchdowns, the Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative began to look more and more like Ohio State. The second-ranked Buckeyes rallied to beat 20th-rated Northwestern 24-10, dropping the Wildcats out of a three-way tie, along with Michigan, for the lead.

The Wolverines, rated fifth in The Associated Press poll, whipped Wisconsin 29-15 but are ineligible for a return trip to Pasadena this year.

Texas celebrated its return to the top of the rankings with a 42-15 rout of Southern Methodist as Steve Worster rambled for 144 yards and four touchdowns. But eighth-ranked Arkansas kept pace with the Longhorns in the Southwest conference race by crushing Texas A&M 48-6.

However, the Razorbacks' star runner, Bill Burnett, suffered a severe shoulder separation after scoring three touchdowns and probably will be lost for the rest of the regular season.

Notre Dame, ranked third, smashed Navy 56-7 and No. 4 Nebraska maintained its one-half game lead over Kansas State in the Big Eight with a 29-13 defeat of Colorado while the Wildcats edged 17th-rated Missouri 17-13.

Seventh-ranked Air Force needed Craig Barry's 20-yard field goal as time ran out to nip Arizona 23-20 and Tennessee, No. 9, had no trouble beating Wake Forest 41-7.

Louisiana State, No. 10, and Mississippi, No. 13, which leads the Tigers in the Southeastern Conference 4-0 to 2-0, were idle but No. 12 Auburn crushed Florida 63-14 and stayed in the running as Pat Sullivan passed for 387 yards and four touchdowns and scored once himself.

San Diego State, ranked 14th, clobbered Fresno State 56-14 and took over the Pacific Coast A.A. lead but No. 15 Pitt ran afoul of surging Syracuse 43-13 and had its dreams of an Eastern title virtually ruined.

Friday night, No. 19 UCLA blasted Washington State 54-9. Toledo nipped Miami of Ohio 14-13 for the Mid-American title and clinched a spot in the Tangerine Bowl while Dartmouth blanked Yale 10-0 to become the only unbeaten team in the East and take a one-game lead in the Ivy League.

New Mexico stayed right behind idle Arizona State, No. 11, in the Western Athletic Conference by beating Texas-El Paso 35-16 and Army suffered a record seventh straight loss, bowing to Boston College 21-13.

Two Brawls Enliven Pro Games

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
The fight game, which picked up some extra wallop a week ago at Atlanta, is on the upswing in another heavyweight division—the National Football League.

A pair of brawls enlivened the NFL card Sunday, rivaling last Monday night's Muhammad Ali-Jerry Quarry set-to and playing major roles in the New York Jets' 22-10 decision over the New York Giants and the Oakland Raiders' 17-17 draw with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Fran Tarkenton scrambled out of a third-quarter melee in the first regular season meeting of New York's charged-up rivals and keyed a quick striking Giant counter-attack that floored the Jets.

A last-minute donnybrook at Kansas City helped the Raiders salvage a tie on George Blanda's 48-yard field goal with three seconds to play.

Elsewhere, Minnesota overpowered Detroit 30-17, Baltimore trampled Miami 35-0, San Francisco mauled Green Bay 26-10, Buffalo crushed Boston 45-10, St. Louis overwhelmed Houston 44-0, Dallas beat Philadelphia 21-17, Los Angeles subdued New Orleans 30-17, Washington startled Denver 19-3, Chicago bounced Atlanta 23-14, and San Diego turned back Cleveland 27-10.

Cincinnati's game at Pittsburgh tonight brings the NFL season to its midway mark.

The Giants trailed 10-3 in the third quarter when the Jets' defense stopped Tucker Frederickson's fourth down plunger inches short of the end zone and Tarkenton was swarmed under after taking a futile lateral from Frederickson as the whistle blew the play dead.

22 Tarkenton came off the ground boiling mad, exchanged words with his tacklers and then squared off against Jet defensive back Earlle Thomas, a former Golden Gloves boxer. The benches emptied and several scuffles broke out before the teams were persuaded to return to football.

The Giants promptly nailed Chuck Mercein for a safety and Tarkenton fired two touchdown passes in the next two minutes.

A punch Otis Taylor denied throwing touched off the fireworks at Kansas City and ultimately cost the Chiefs a vital victory in the American Conference's Western Division race.

With 1:08 to play and the Chiefs leading 17-14 on a Len Dawson to Taylor TD pass, Dawson sprinted 19 yards to the Oakland 29—and was smacked by big Ben Davidson after the whistle.

A penalty flag was dropped, signifying a 15-yard stepoff against the Raiders, but when Taylor lit into Davidson, he was ejected from the game and the big-gainer nullified by an offsetting penalty against the Chiefs.

The Chiefs then punted and Daryle Lamonica, racing the clock, drove Oakland upfield to set up Blanda's tying three-point.

"The game was lost, and we came out of nowhere to tie it," said 43-year-old Blanda, whose clutch kick sent the Raiders into the division lead with a 3-2-2 record. "They got a stupid penalty and all of a sudden we get a tie and we're in first place."

At Detroit, the Vikings, 6-1, broke a first-place deadlock with the Lions in the National Conference's Central Division as Gary Cuzzo threw two touchdown passes, Bobby Bruant scored on a 39-yard interception return and Fred Sox booted three field goals.

Cuzzo riddled the Lions' secondary, which missed injured Lem Barney, with 13 completions in 22 attempts for 253 yards.

Jim Duncan zipped 99 yards on a kickoff return for one touchdown and Ron Gardin bolted 80 yards with a punt for another, leading the Colts, 6-1, to their fifth straight victory.

The Dolphins' second successive shutout loss dropped them two games behind the Colts in the AFC Eastern Division and ruined the homecoming of Coach Don Shula, Baltimore's former boss.

John Brodie teamed with Jim Thomas on a 52-yard pass play in the third quarter to set up San Francisco's go-ahead touchdown against the visiting Packers and Bruce Gossett kicked four field goals for the 49ers, atop the NFC Western Division with a 5-1-1 mark.

O.J. Simpson scored on a 56-yard gallop and finished his biggest day as a pro with 123 yards in 17 carries, pacing Buffalo's romp over the Patriots at Boston.

The Cardinals, back home after an upset loss at New York last weekend, trounced Houston behind hot-handed Jim Hart, who hit on 15 of 25 passes for 223 yards. After St. Louis' first shutout win in nine years, Oilers Coach Wally Lemm announced he would step down at the end of the season.

At Dallas, the Cowboys kept pace with St. Louis, at 5-2, in the HFC East by downing the winless Eagles on three Craig Morton scoring bombs—to Lance Rentzel for 86 and 56 yards and Bob Hayes for 40.

Roman Gabriel tossed two touchdown passes as the visiting Rams were down the Saints after being strung for two New Orleans scores in the first four minutes.

The Redskins' defensive unit, led by linebacker Chris Hanburger, blanked the Broncos until the final quarter at Denver and Sonny Jurgensen flipped two TD strikes to Jerry Smith.

Cecil Turner, the league's top kickoff return man, broke one for a 94-yard touchdown that erased a 14-13 deficit and carried the Bears past the Falcons at Atlanta.

San Diego took advantage of a pair of Cleveland mistakes in the second period and turned them into touchdowns within a four-minute span. Chuck Detweiler returned a fumble 25 yards for one score and Bo Scott's fumble, recovered by San Diego's Jeff Staggs, set up another Charger touchdown.

Hawks Find a Patsy in Cavaliers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The slow-starting Atlanta Hawks, like other National Basketball Association clubs, have found a patsy in the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Lou Hudson hit his season high of 43 points Sunday night in leading the Hawks to a 131-107 triumph and dealing the expansion Cavaliers their 10th defeat without a victory. It was only the second success against five losses for Atlanta.

Cleveland stayed close until late in the second quarter when Hudson's layup put the Hawks ahead to stay 51-50. Hudson connected on 19-of-26 field goal attempts while teammate Bill Bridges also scored a season high — 25 points.

John Johnson, a rookie from Iowa, tallied 24 points for Cleveland in the NBA's only scheduled game.

The American Basketball Association also has a non-winning entry, the Carolina Cougars, who suffered their eighth straight setback Sunday night, 112-97, to the Pittsburgh Condors.

In other ABA games, the New York Nets snapped a three-game losing streak against the Virginia Squires, 121-109; the Kentucky Colonels downed the Floridians 112-109; and the Utah Stars topped the Denver Rockets 117-111.

Pittsburgh's 6-foot Charlie Williams tallied 14 points in the second half and finished with 27 against Carolina. Mike Lewis grabbed 24 rebounds for the Condors while George Lehmann scored 27 points for the Cougars.

Bill Melchionni's 23 points and Ollie Taylor's 18 paced the Nets past Virginia which got 24 points from rookie star Charlie

Scott and 21 from George Carter. The Squires, leading the Eastern Division, dropped their second game in 10 starts.

Cincy Powell's late clutch field goals and rookie Dan Issel's 26 points led Kentucky over the Floridians, who were packed by Mack Calvin's 29 points.

Red Robbins and Wayne Hightower each scored 32 points as Utah, the unbeaten Western Division leader, made Denver its sixth straight victim. Larry Cannon poured in 32 points for the Rockets and rookie Ralph Simpson added 19.

In Saturday's NBA games, New York downed Detroit 107-89; Boston topped Philadelphia 133-102; San Diego dumped Atlanta 121-117; Baltimore edged Phoenix 106-103; Milwaukee ripped Cincinnati 121-100; Seattle upended Chicago 122-119, and Portland got by Buffalo 107-102.

In Saturday ABA action, Utah tripped Denver 122-113; Virginia squeezed by Pittsburgh 113-110; Kentucky beat New York 113-100, and the Floridians stopped Indiana 116-104.

Flyweights in a World Title Match

BANGKOK (AP) — The flyweight title fight between World Boxing Council champion Chartchai Chionoi of Thailand and top-ranking Filipino Erbito Salavarría has been postponed to Dec. 7, promoter Thiembon Indrabutr said today.

Thiembon, organizer of the WBC title bout, which was originally scheduled Oct. 19 and rescheduled Nov. 23 here, said he was awaiting a response from Salavarría's handlers in Manila regarding the postponement.

The promoter said he acted at the request of Chartchai's manager, Prayote Pisalbut, after confirming that Chartchai was really down with flu 10 days ago.

NHL Balance of Power in Boston

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
If you'd like to know where the balance of power resides in the National Hockey League, a good place to start looking would be Boston Garden.

The defending Stanley Cup champion Bruins had, an impressive weekend, registering back-to-back shutouts—6-0 over the New York Rangers and 5-0 against the Minnesota North Stars—and totaling 105 shots on goal in the two games.

To make it all the more impressive, they used different goalies with Ed Johnston backstopping Saturday's blanking of the Rangers and Gerry Cheevers taking over for Sunday's whitewash against the North Stars.

Elsewhere in the NHL Sunday, New York whipped Chicago 5-2, Toronto rallied for a 5-4 decision over Detroit, Philadelphia edged Pittsburgh 3-2, and Los Angeles downed Buffalo 4-2.

In Saturday's other action, Montreal ripped Vancouver 6-3, Minnesota took Toronto 3-1, Chicago dropped Pittsburgh 5-2 and St. Louis shut out Los Angeles 3-0.

The Bruins fired 46 shots at New York goalie Ed Giacomin Saturday night but still had enough energy left to dump 59 on Cesare Maniago of Minnesota Sunday.

Tough Johnny McKenzie had two goals against the Rangers and then bounced back from a 10-stitch cut to add another against the North Stars as Boston simply outplayed both New York and Minnesota by wide margins.

Phil Eposito, the NHL's leading scorer, picked up three assists Saturday night to pass the 500-point plateau for his career and assisted on another goal Sunday. He took 13 of Boston's 59 shots at Maniago but failed to score.

The Rangers bounced back from Saturday night's thrashing to whip Chicago, bunching three goals in the first 13½ minutes of play. Jean Ratelle scored one and set up two others for New York and reserve goalie Gilles Villemure, spelling Giacomin, turned in his third victory in as many starts.

Toronto wiped out a two-goal Detroit lead with Dave Keon scoring twice and assisting on another goal as the Maple Leafs beat the Red Wings.

Frank Mahovlich had a pair of power play goals for Detroit. Keon's second goal of the game tied it at 18:24 of the second period and then rookie Guy Trotter got the winner for the Leafs in the third period.

Philadelphia built a 3-0 edge and then held off a late rally by Pittsburgh to knock off the Penguins. First period goals by Serge Bernier and Guy Gendron and a third period tally by Larry Hale had the Flyers comfortably in front until a late flurry with Nick Harbaruk and Glen Sather connecting, made it close for Pittsburgh.

Eddie Shack and Bob Berry scored 47 seconds apart in powering Los Angeles past Buffalo. The victory snapped the Kings' three-game losing streak while the Sabres dropped their fourth in a row.

ASU Board Seeks Game With U of A

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas State University Board of Trustees discussed Saturday a possible meeting with the board of the University of Arkansas to work out arrangements for a football match between the two schools. The board did not take a formal vote on the matter but said they would like such a meeting "to discuss this (the football game) and other related problems between the two institutions."

The meeting was proposed after board member Austin Temple of Crossett suggested legislation be proposed in the next session for the two schools to meet in football.

Dr. Carl Reng, ASU president, suggested that the board send an invitation to the UA board for a joint meeting.

"I think we're in a good position to make such an offer," said board member William Gulley of Little Rock. "Why can't the number one team in the nation offer to play the

COLLEGE FOOTBALL'S BEST

DURHAM, N.C.—(NEA)—When a recent national television program, previewing the year of the quarterback in college football, overlooked Duke's Leo Hart, the 6-foot-3 Kinston, N.C., native should not have been too surprised. He has been overlooked for a long time.

Despite a brilliant high school career, Hart was not highly sought-after by college scouts. After a promising freshman year at Duke, Hart was overlooked by the Duke coaches and placed on the third team. It was only after senior signal-caller Al Woodall (now with the New York Jets) was ruled ineligible, and redshirt Dave Trice suffered an ankle injury, that Hart got his first chance to start.

In his first collegiate game, Hart completed 16 of 25 passes for 214 yards and led the underdog Blue Devils to a 14-7 victory over South Carolina.

Since that game, Hart has almost become a legend in the Atlantic Coast Conference, a league that has produced such pro quarterbacks as Roman Gabriel (Rams), Sonny Jurgensen (Redskins), Norm Snead (Eagles) and Gary Cuozzo (Vikings).

Duke's Hart holds virtually every ACC passing and total offense record. He was the first in conference history to pass for over 2,000 yards in a single season (2,238 as a sophomore). He was the first to amass 2,000 yards total offense in one year (2,340 as a sophomore).

He is as accurate as he is productive. Of 599 passes he attempted through his junior year, only 20 have been intercepted, a percentage of only 3.3. Hart has completed 328 for a percentage of 54.8.

Veteran Clemson University Coach Frank Howard has described Hart as one of the best passers his teams have ever faced, a flattering compliment, considering Howard has had to battle quarterbacks like Joe Namath, Fran Tarkenton and Bart Starr in the past. "I'd like to think that someday Hart will get the recognition he deserves," said Howard.

He will get it, no doubt, next February.

That's when the pro teams get to pick over this bumper crop of college quarterbacks, and it will be the one time Leo Hart is not overlooked. Finally.

Jockey Sellers Is Back in Headlines

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jockey Johnny Sellers was back in the racing headlines today for the first time in years.

The rider who gained national prominence in 1961 when he won the Kentucky Derby and The Preakness with Carry Back, brought Daryl's Joy home the surprise winner over Fiddle Isle in the $108,000 Oak Tree at Santa Anita Saturday.

Displaying the same coolness that he did when he came from far back to win with Carry Back, Seller's kept Daryl's Joy together in a sizzling last quarter of 22 4-5 seconds to score by a neck over the odds-on Fiddle Isle and famed Jockey Willie Shoemaker.

Altogether Sellers rode four winners on the card, one of his best days in the saddle since he brought home eight consecutive winners on successive days in October 1961 at Atlantic City. He won the last three races on Oct. 3 and the first five the next afternoon.

ONE OF PETE MARAVICH's problems in this, his rookie season in the NBA, is that he hangs in the air too long, according to his coach, Richie Guerin of the Atlanta Hawks. And when he hangs, there is a defender hanging with him, more often than not.

The unexpected triumph of Daryl's Joy, a new Zealand bred, kept Fiddle Isle from winning his seventh straight stake in California. It overshadowed the feat of Shuvee in taking the $108,900 Jockey Club Gold Cup at Aqueduct.

Shuvee, a 4-year-old filly became the first of her sex to win the grueling two-mile test. She took the lead soon after the start and stayed on top the rest of the way to beat Loud by two lengths.

Limit To Reason won the Laurel-Pimlico Futurity at Laurel by four lengths and Ship Leave took the Trenton Handicap at Garden State Park by two lengths.

Dust Commander, winner of the 1970 Kentucky Derby, snapped a nine-race losing streak by taking the Halloween Purse at Churchill Downs.

Terrible Tiger led all the way in winning the Jack R. Johnston Handicap at Sportman's Park in Chicago. Ulla Britta won the Atherton Stakes at Bay Meadows and Needleson scored in the Tamiami Trail Handicap at Tropical Park.

Sellers, who won the Jersey Derby and the Belmont Stakes with Hail To All in a span of five days in 1965, helped trainer Charley Whittingham gain a rare distinction.

Whittingham conditioned the first three finishers in the Oak Tree, Daryl's Joy, Fiddle Isle and Cougar II. Under California rules they did not race as a betting entry since different owners were involved.

Daryl's Joy, owned by Robert Geh of Singapore, may have earned an invitation to the Washington, D.C., International at Laurel Nov. 11. Fiddle Isle already has been invited.

IRA BERKOW

Maravich Hangup No Boon to Hawks

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

ATLANTA—(NEA)—Too many times, said Atlanta Hawk Coach Richie Guerin, Pete Maravich gets himself "stuck up there in the air." It's a great trait for a moon but not for a basketball player.

That is one of several problems with which Pete Maravich is presently confronted. The rookie guard who is a millionaire twice over is finding that his seven-figure contract did not also earn him the right to be an immediate hit in the National Basketball Association.

"It's tough to get a kid to change in a few weeks things he's been doing for 15, 13 years," said Guerin.

At Louisiana State University, for instance, Maravich could go up for a jump shot and remain for awhile, taking his good time, until he decided to pop the shot. But there, as John Havlicek of the Celtics noted, there weren't many other 6-5 guards, unlike the NBA.

When he does soar in the air now, his long brown hair whipping in the stratosphere to shape his sharp-featured face like an eagle, and his brittle-seeming body bent back some, bone-thin legs a-kick in floppy socks, he has company. Defensive guards in the NBA can hang from a roof beam or moon beam with as much perseverance as Pete.

What happens is that Maravich (a) takes a bad shot or (b) makes a bad pass. Bad passes come in two sizes in this case. One, if you're lucky, is to get the ball into a teammate's paws. Rarely will it be the kind of pass that is sharp, that perpetuates team movement, that sets up a play. It is done out of desperation. The other kind of pass is an invitation to larceny, and two points for the bad guys.

After a full set of preseason games and a handful of regular-season contests, Maravich has shown that he can galvanize a crowd, make a spectacular pro pass, sink a long twisting jumper, steal a ball as well as take a shot that is too long. He can also shoot a 3-on-1 fast break shot that, well, "That I should have passed off to Lou (Hudson)," said Maravich on a particular play. Since Pete sank the shot, Hudson said professionally, "That's cool."

On defense he is still sometimes as sloppy as his socks. His teammates admit that Joe Caldwell, a marvelous, experienced player who's holding out for more loot, of course, had the team moving better. Caldwell is not there because of the circumstances of Maravich, an increasingly weary subject that involves big bonuses, to untried but heralded rookies while proven players must struggle along on impoverished sums of $50,000, $75,000, $100,000 a year.

The fact that the Hawk starters have been black and that Maravich has been termed, sourly but expectedly, "the Great White Hope," could not go unnoticed by Hudson, Hazzard, Bridges, Bellamy, Davis.

That he has his playing troubles ("Some rookie mistakes, some stupid mistakes," said Guerin) has to compound his anxieties. But rookie guards such as Jerry West, Earl Monroe, Bob Cousy, Walt Frazier, to name four, started slowly.

"Pete is making normal progress," said Havlicek. "And I think he's improved 50 per cent since the preseason games. I think he'll make a terrific pro."

After only a few regular season games, Maravich then scored 23 points against Detroit. He started the next game, his first for the Hawks. He had 15 points the first half and Guerin said that was the best he had played this season, taking shots when he had them, hitting the open man. But the second half, said Maravich, "I was horse manure. I didn't contribute a thing."

UNITED TRANSPORTATION UNION
 (Conductors, Trainmen, Switchmen)

Whereas, it is the desire of the companies and the union representatives signatory hereto to see that continued employment is afforded all train and yard service employees who may be affected if and when the "Arkansas Full Crew Laws" are repealed, IT IS AGREED:

SECTION 1: All employees with a seniority date in train or yard service in Arkansas on any of the above-named railroads as of the effective date of this agreement will become "Protected Employees", which means that they will not become unemployed in the class or classes of service in which they hold seniority as a result of repeal of the "Arkansas Full Crew Laws".

SECTION 2: To the extent that it is necessary to use employees in excess of that required by applicable crew consist rules in order to afford employment for men who would otherwise become unemployed by reason of repeal of the "Full Crew Laws", the employees will be permitted to exercise their seniority rights on the jobs of their choice. In no event, however, shall it be necessary to use more crewmen than are required by the present "Full Crew Laws".

SECTION 3: Jobs required by the "Arkansas Full Crew Laws" in excess of the number required by crew consist agreements may be eliminated to the extent necessary to meet the requirements of the service so as to avoid hiring new men while working excess jobs. The assignments to be eliminated under this Section shall be the ones held by the most junior employees on excess jobs now required by the present "Full Crew Laws", but protected employees occupying such jobs will still be afforded employment in train or yard service in their respective seniority districts. Mileage of employees in pool service and on extra boards in Arkansas will continue to be regulated as in other States and under present rules and/or practices.

If on any railroad signatory hereto it is felt by the parties that some method other than eliminating the excess jobs held by the most junior employees is more practicable, nothing herein shall prevent the negotiation of another method in lieu thereof. This might be accomplished by the union furnishing a list of preference in sequence of excess jobs to be eliminated, which list may be changed from time to time by the union - this being only one example, among others, discussed while negotiating this agreement.

SECTION 4: If any protected employee is required to work on the extra board as a result of abolishing his excess position he shall be paid no less per month than he was averaging on his regular job board which was abolished, so long as he is required to remain on the extra board.

SECTION 5: Unless mutually agreed otherwise, the terms of this agreement shall become effective on the day following the date the "Arkansas Full Crew Laws" are repealed and the results certified by proper governmental authority.

SECTION 6: This agreement constitutes a separate agreement between the parties on each individual carrier and changes agreements, rules and practices on each carrier only to the extent necessary to conform herewith.

I'm George T. Graham

"I was born and raised at Gurdon and attended Henderson State College at Arkadelphia. I started to work for the Missouri Pacific Railroad as a clerk, then transferred to train service as a brakeman. I've worked my way up through train service to my current position as General Manager.

I'm Chairman of the Committee for the Repeal of the Full Crew Laws. And I want you to know that if any railroad man in train service has told you that he will lose his employment because of the repeal of these 1907 so-called Full Crew Laws then he has not told you the truth.

Please read this agreement in full. This agreement guarantees that no employee in train service will lose his employment because of the repeal of these laws. You will note that this agreement bears the signatures of the proper representatives of every railroad in Arkansas. This agreement was sent to the United Transportation Union by registered mail after the union representatives had walked out of a negotiating session.

I want you and every citizen of Arkansas to know that the railroads will live up to the commitments made in this agreement even if the unions refuse to sign it.

You will note in this agreement that every man working in train service, whether he's on a regular job or on the extra board is a "PROTECTED EMPLOYEE" under this agreement.

The railroads ask you to vote for Act 1 and we make this commitment in writing that the repeal of these laws will not cause any man now working to lose his employment in train service.

This is the real truth and you are entitled to know it."

Carruth Says He's Leading Opponents

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Walter Carruth, the American Party's gubernatorial candidate, said Saturday that he is leading the three-way race for governor.

His opponents, Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and Democrat Dale Bumpers, have also claimed leads in the race.

Carruth said that Bumpers was claiming 56 per cent of the vote and Rockefeller more than that, which Carruth says adds up to about 113 per cent of the vote at the minimum.

Carruth credited his feeling that he is leading to contacts he has had with voters throughout the state.

As for campaign expenditures, Carruth said he would spend less than $20,000, or what the governor would receive as salary for two years in office.

During a Little Rock news conference, the Lexa farmer said that Circuit Judge Steele Hays "should have disqualified himself" from the trial of six Negro youths charged with raping two white girls.

Since Hays was a former secretary of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations, he could not render a fair decision, Carruth said.

He said Hays should disqualify himself on any matters involving blacks.

Last week Hays declared the trial a mistrial due to the line of questioning jurors by the prosecutor's office. Carruth said Saturday that political leaders had not wanted the trial to be held before Tuesday's election.

He said that both Bumpers and Rockefeller would favor the council.

The youths are charged with raping the girls on a sandbar on the Arkansas River last August.

Hays said Sunday that Carruth's charges were "without foundation." He said he did not understand how his former association with the council would have an impact on the trial.

"The council has been a long-time organization in this community dedicated to understanding and improving relations within the community by reasonable men," he said. "It seems to me that any organization that seeks the improvement of human relations hardly needs to be defended."

Fails in Bid to Get James Earl Ray Rifle

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Private detective Renfro T. Hays, a figure in the James Earl Ray case, has been turned down in his suit to get custody of Ray's car and the rifle allegedly used to kill Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"The petition for disciplinary proceedings is totally without merit and is stricken," ruled Circuit Court Judge John W. Wilson.

Hays, who worked for the defense in the Ray case, earlier received a court judgment for $6,000 against Ray for investigative work and sought the 1965 Mustang and high-powered rifle to partially satisfy the debt.

Illiterates in 13 States Can Vote Legally

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds, possibly thousands, of illiterate Americans in 13 states will be able to vote legally for the first time Tuesday.

Yet the law which gave them the ballot, the federal Voting Rights Act of 1970, remains in question. The Supreme Court has heard arguments but not yet ruled on its constitutionality.

This could add up to an embarrassing situation, especially in razor-close races. Two states are taking precautions against the possibility the court will overturn the law's suspension of literacy tests. The others are not.

The law suspends literacy tests for five years in 11 states and in parts of two others. The 11 are Alaska, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon, Washington and Wyoming. The two others are Arizona, where the law affects all but Yuma County, and North Carolina where tests are banned in 61 counties.

The government estimates 1.9 million illiterate Americans have been enfranchised in the 13 states by the law.

Ten governorships, 10 Senate seats and more than 100 House seats are at stake in the 13 states.

Here is a brief overview of the potential problem:

Alaska—Because of local law, invalidation by the court would have no effect.

Arizona—The attorney general's office says only 18 illiterates are known to have registered.

California—Ballots of illiterates will not be held aside. No estimate of the number of such voters.

Connecticut—Registration has been open to illiterates, who imply have to make their mark. No segregation of ballots.

Delaware—Illiterates will be assisted in the voting booth, on request, by two election workers, one a Democrat, the other a Republican. Machine voting prevents the segregation of ballots.

Maine—No special steps have been taken to guard against the possibility of a negative ruling by the court.

Massachusetts—An election official says there is no way of knowing how many illiterates will vote.

New Hampshire—Last week a three-judge federal court ordered the segregation of illiterates' ballots. If their votes are decisive, results will be held up until the end of the year. Should the court nullify the federal act, these votes will be subtracted. Should the court not rule by then, the votes will be counted.

New York—No effort is being made to segregate ballots.

North Carolina—About 500 illiterates have been registered provisionally at the order of a three-judge federal court. Alex Brock, executive secretary of the State Board of Elections, says this would make their ballots valid no matter what. However, all registration records show which voters are illiterate so their votes could be purged if the Supreme Court eventually declares them ineligible.

Oregon—The secretary of state's office said the state's literacy law was rarely, if ever,

Pole Envoy Is Killed in Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — A witness said a man shouted "Down with communism" as he drove a cargo truck into an airport reception line for Poland's president. The deputy foreign minister of Poland, Pakistan's deputy intelligence chief and two Pakistani photographers died.

Polish President Marian Spychalski was unhurt, but Warinvoked, anyhow.

Washington—The state supervisor of elections says there are so few illiterates it wouldn't make a difference.

Wyoming—No segregation of ballots.

saw's ambassador to Pakistan and about 20 others were injured. Spychalski broke off his five-day visit to Pakistan to accompany the body of Zygfryd Wolniak to Poland.

Police did not confirm that the killing on Sunday was intentional, saying that its cause "seems to be failure of the brakes of the vehicle." But they said they were questioning a man named Feroze Abdulah.

The witness said he heard the truck driver shouting, "I have completed my mission!" and "Down with communism!" as the bodies lay near Spychalski's chartered plane.

"Everyone was surprised when this man drove the van from behind the aircraft and in the twinkling of an eye accelerated toward the spot where the Polish president was shaking hands," the witness said.

"The driver apparently thought the deputy foreign minister was the president, and after crushing him, raised his hands in the air and shouted: 'I have done my job! I have completed my mission!'"

The witness said police overpowered the driver, but the man continued shouting slogans against communism until an officer clamped a hand over the man's mouth.

In addition to Wolniak, 48, the victims included news photographer Mohammed Yasin; Mohammed Ashraf, photographer for Pakistan's Information Ministry, and the security official, Chaudhri Mohammed Nazir.

Wolniak was regarded as a coming man in Poland's Communist government.

Spychalski had just arrived from Lahore for the final stop of the tour. A spokesman for Pakistan International Airlines, which owns the truck, said it

Monday, November 2, 1970 was parked near the plane to restock its galley and take away catering material. The witness said the man driving the truck apparently was not an on-duty employee of the Pakistani airline.

The Pakistani government appointed a commission of inquiry under a Supreme Court judge, and President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan expressed "deepest sorrow and profound regrets" for "the terrible tragedy that took place as a result of the accident at the airport."

Polish news media called the incident a "tragic accident" in early stories, but the phrase was dropped during the evening.

Dogs and cats see well, but they cannot see different colors, so they live in a world which is gray and drab.

I am a Democrat.

I served as a State Senator for 12 years.

I will vote for Governor Rockefeller and Sterling Cockrill on November 3rd.

Here's why:

I am supporting Governor Rockefeller for re-election and Sterling Cockrill for Lt. Governor because of their program and because I believe they will do more for all of the people in the State of Arkansas. As Governor, Mr. Rockefeller has done much for our state and when I hear or see his name, I think of new and expanding jobs and payrolls and a more attractive industrial climate. During the years 1967, 1968 and 1969 forty thousand new jobs were created. He spends many, many hours using his name and influence to attract the right type of new industry to his adopted state and we have only to look at the state as a whole and compare our progress with some of the other states to realize the success he has made—not only since serving as Governor but as former Chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission. His work with the prisons started us on the way to needed reforms and he has made everyone realize how much more needs to be done and that he will make every effort to see that such programs are carried out.

I recall how firm he stood on the gambling issue and how he closed down organized gambling in an area where it had flourished for many years.

As an attorney I know of a young girl who was seriously injured in an automobile accident through no fault of her own and she then found out the the company that had the insurance on the other car that caused the accident was either broke or in bankruptcy. The Commissioner of Insurance who was appointed by Governor Rockefeller now gives us more protection than ever before in seeing that insurance companies are able to meet their financial obligations as stated in their policies.

Mrs. Rockefeller has been very active in improving the facilities for retarded children and in the field of mental health and she has been interested in many other fine and worthwhile projects which have been of immeasurable benefit to the people of Arkansas. She and Governor Rockefeller have both done their best to make Arkansas a better place in which to live and to rear our children.

I have closely followed the career of Sterling Cockrill in the legislature and he has had the courage to vote his convictions and to do what he thought was best for the people as a whole and I know what great influence an independent thinker and a man of convictions can have in preserving and protecting the rights of the people.

I admire a person who has the courage to stand up and say what he thinks is right and vote and act accordingly. A brief list of his accomplishments in the legislature will easily convince you that Sterling Cockrill is such a man. Because of his experience he has had in serving in the House of Representatives for 14 years and because of his knowledge of state government I think he will make an outstanding Lt. Governor.

Mr. and Mrs. Cockrill have no doubt learned a great deal from Mr. Frank Storey, father of Mrs. Cockrill, who served the people of Arkansas for many years in the office of Auditor, State Comptroller and as secretary of the State Board of Fiscal Control. In my judgment he knows as much about our state government as anyone and he is one of the finest and most honorable public servants this state has ever had. I relied upon his advice and judgment more than any other man during the twelve years I served in the Arkansas Senate. It was Mr. Storey who in 1954 gave us the original idea as to how the State of Arkansas could participate in financing new industry and from then on the idea of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission was successfully launched.

We have Governor Rockefeller to thank for the opportunity to vote on a new Constitution and I think that he has done a great deal in helping us to have good candidates to vote for. Whenever we have aggressive competition for public office from good candidates the people always benefit.

Governor Rockefeller and Sterling Cockrill have demonstrated their interest in serving the people and I was greatly impressed by an editorial which appeared in the Arkansas Democrat last Sunday entitled "MORE TIME TO GROW" which endorsed Governor Rockefeller for a third time and included in the article was this statement: "The taxpayer is getting more for his money. Example: When Rockefeller took office, the state's money was drawing about $30,000 a year in interest. By making a special effort at investment, state funds now earn $4 million a year." This is but one example of how the taxpayers have benefited from the administration of Governor Rockefeller with the assistance of such leaders as Sterling Cockrill in the legislature. This Editorial is a most impressive statement as to the reasons why it is in the best interest of the people of Arkansas for Governor Rockefeller to serve for another term.

After careful consideration of the issues in this campaign and with all due respect to the other candidates I must cast my vote for those whom I think will do the most for Arkansas which is why I am supporting Governor Rockefeller and Sterling Cockrill.

Respectfully,

James P. "Doc" Baker, Jr.

Arms Limit Talks Resumed With Russia

By DICK SODERLAND
Associated Press Writer
HELSINKI (AP) — U.S. and Soviet envoys resumed the year-old Strategic Arms Limitation Talks today with expressions of hope for progress.

"With hard work and a mutual recognition of the legitimate security interests of each side," said Gerard C. Smith of the United States, "we should be able to make a start in the limitation of arms and a redirection to more constructive ends of some of the resources and energies of our societies."

Smith cited President Nixon's statement to the U.N. General Assembly on Oct. 23, that "there is no greater contribution which the United States and the Soviet Union together could make than to limit the world's capacity for self destruction."

"It is the profound hope of my government," Smith continued, "that in this current session of our talks, significant progress will be made in fashioning the contribution which the United States and the Soviet Union can make to that end. A SALT agreement would be a momentous contribution to international peace and well-being."

The head of the Soviet delegation, Vladimir S. Semenov, replied that his government hopes "these talks will eventually produce positive results" and that "a constructive business-like approach is necessary."

He said the Soviet government in the past has come out for "lessening of tensions and reducing of armaments, and it is from these positions that we will conduct the present negotiations."

Smith and Semenov held preliminary negotiations for a month in Helsinki last November and December and agreed to get down to substantive negotiations in talks to be held alternately in Vienna and the Finnish capital. They met in Vienna from April 16 to Aug. 14.

Following the public opening ceremony today, the negotiators will resume secret talks Tuesday. They are expected to meet twice a week, alternating between the U.S. and Soviet embassies. The two men have agreed to keep their talks secret.

The Americans are awaiting a clearcut Soviet response to a U.S. outline for an agreement that informed sources say proposes limits on long-range missiles and strategic aircraft as well as antiballistic missile defense systems.

Prospects are for many more weeks and months of hard bargaining while the two superpowers, more wary than ever of each other's intentions, seek common ground for an agreement that would signify the most important disarmament breakthrough in the nuclear age.

Besides mutual suspicion, they have to overcome such technical points as defining what should be regarded as a strategic weapons and how arms cutbacks could be properly verified. The Russians consistently have rejected on-site inspections.

AEA Official Criticized by Burton

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Marion Burton, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's campaign director, sharply criticized the executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association here Saturday.

Burton was critical of Forrest Rozzell and Mrs. Alice Glover, president-elect of the AEA. He said that Mrs. Glover's statements regarding the governor's role in raising the quality of education were "unfair, inaccurate and unwarranted."

During a news conference, Burton said that he had sent a letter to Rozzell on Mrs. Glover's statements, but had received no response.

Included in the letter to Rozzell were statements concerning an earlier letter by Mrs. Mary Ervin, a Charleston teacher. Mrs. Ervin had charged that Rockefeller's Democratic opponent, Dale Bumpers, had not done all he could to raise teacher's salaries in Charleston while he was a member of the Charleston School Board.

Rozzell had replied to Mrs. Ervin's letter that it was the state's fault that the salaries had not been raised. Burton denied this saying that property assessments in Charleston fell below the state level, cutting back the amount of local aid to schools.

Mrs. Glover had termed three teacher salary increases during the Rockefeller Administration "meager" and said that Rockefeller had taken credit for acts, such as the public kindergarten act, for which he was not responsible.

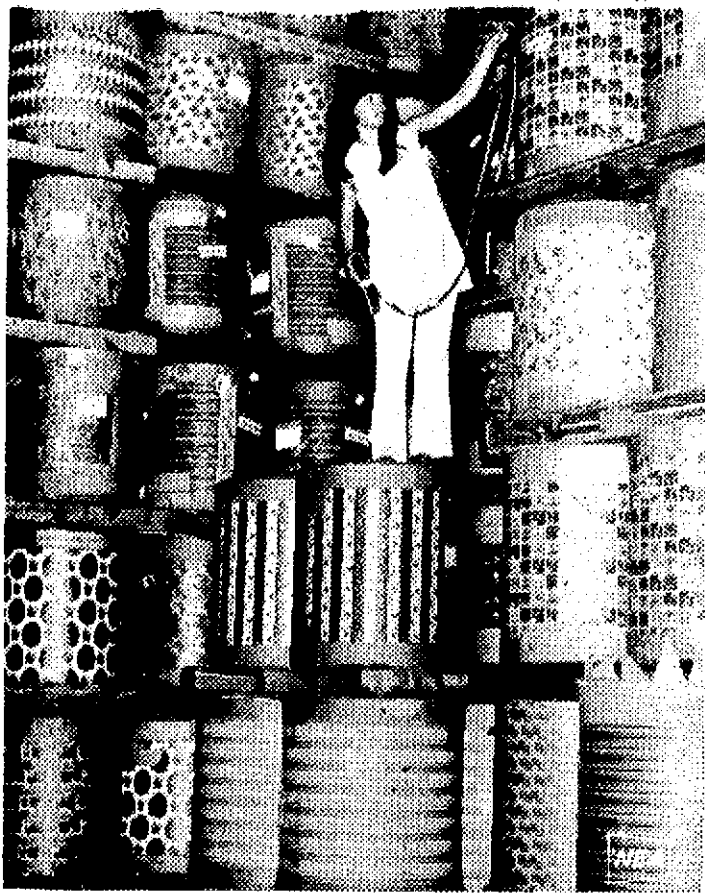

She urged teachers to support Bumpers.

C. Ray Baker, AEA president, said Friday that Mrs. Glover did not reflect the stand of the AEA, only her own opinions.

"I regard Mr. Rozzell's performance in these matters as being totally inadequate and not in the best interests of teachers or education," Burton said. "I must assume that Mrs. Glover's biased statement is the only answer to the issues which both Mrs. Ervin and I raised in our letters to Mr. Rozzell."

He repeated statements that Bumpers' performance on the school board was important because it was the only public record he had to be examined.

Burton said that Rockefeller had been concerned about teachers salaries and had been of the opinion that past raises were not adequate.

Plane Users to Play a Bigger Role

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the month since the Wichita State football plane crash, the Federal Aviation Administration has moved to place more responsibility for such rent-a-plane flights on the users—who often are ignorant of air regulations.

So far, the firms which lease out the planes—and know about aircraft regulations—have not been moved against. But they may ultimately be required to warn their customers.

A two-engine plane carrying Wichita State University players and personnel crashed into the Rockies Oct. 2, killing 31. The disaster focused attention on the hazy world of air operations in which a plane from one source and a crew from another is provided to a user unfamiliar with air operations.

The FAA revoked the certificate of the aviation firm which provided the crew for Wichita State, fined the owner of the plane which crashed and revoked the certificate of a mechanic who inspected it.

The FAA also has acted against four firms indirectly linked to principals in the Wichita case for allegedly violating FAA rules on other flights—some of which involved football teams.

While FAA and National Transportation Safety Board investigations of the Wichita State crash continue, the broader question of how to prevent further tragedies like the Wichita State crash also has been under study.

The FAA has proposed rule changes which would specify that a university or other group which leases a large airplane from one source and hires a crew from another is the operator of the plane—and would be required to have an FAA certificate.

At the heart of the Wichita case is the question of who was operating the plane. The Martin 404 was owned by Jack Richards Aviation Inc. of Oklahoma City. The crew was from Golden Eagle Aviation Inc. of Oklahoma City.

The FAA says Golden Eagle was the operator of the plane. FAA Administrator John Shaffer said the separate crew and plane arrangements were merely a facade to evade FAA regulations for commercial air operators. Golden Eagle, as a firm, was not certified to fly a plane as large as the Martin 404.

Golden Eagle contends that Wichita State was the operator of the plane and that the crew was hired as individuals by the school.

The Wichita State athletic officials who made the deal were killed in the crash. But the university's president said the school certainly had no idea it was assuming any responsibilities as an aircraft operator.

Most schools which charter big planes for athletic trips use certificated supplemental air carriers, which also supply the crews.

A firm which provides only the plane—"dry leases" the craft—is not regulated as is an air carrier. The FAA is concerned that such a firm may evade regulation as an air carrier by the device of providing crews through a supposedly separate firm.

The first public aquarium was opened at Regent's Park, London, in 1853, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Dirty Campaign Charges More Than Double

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Formal charges of dirty campaigning in U.S. Senate contests more than doubled this year, reflecting the intense battle being fought over control of that chamber, according to the head of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

Samuel J. Archibald, executive director of the committee, said Senate candidates have registered 19 complaints compared with nine each in 1968 and 1966.

"It could reflect the importance the White House has attached to the Senate races," he said, "and perhaps the greater interest in Senate races."

Yet, the 56 complaints received from the total 35 Senate, 435 House and 35 governor's races in Tuesday's election is a marked decrease from the 68 complaints in 1966 and 67 in 1968, Archibald said in an interview.

But Archibald doesn't believe those figures represent a clean campaign.

"Maybe with professional campaign managers getting into it more and more, the smears are more subtle and make it difficult to get your finger on it.

"The only other reason I can figure out is the whole problem of voter apathy. Voters aren't interested in this particular election and that may have led to the fewer number of complaints."

"I would like to think politics is getting a little cleaner but frankly we haven't seen anything new. Every trick that has been reported to us is as old as the game of politics," he said.

Seventy-five per cent of this year's candidates subscribed to the Code of Fair Campaign Practices drafted by a Senate subcommittee in 1954. That's higher than ever before.

The greatest number of protests this year, 33 to 20, in an about-face from the previous two elections when Republicans were higher.

Finds GIs Dealing in Drugs

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Army investigators have confirmed that GI's diverted drugs and PX goods into Thailand's black market as well as doctoring pay records and promotions, a House committee says.

According to the House military operations subcommittee, the investigators found the illegal activities occurred in Bangkok and at two U.S. bases in Thailand.

The inquiry was prompted by two Army enlisted men who told the Associated Press and the subcommittee they had been involved in thefts and illicit pay record changes before leaving Thailand a year ago.

"You could sell anything you wanted to," said one soldier. He stated he made about $500 a day over a three month period by diverting medical supplies into the Thai black market.

He said shipments of drugs and other medical items intended for service hospitals were diverted to the black market by falsifying shipping records.

The second soldier said clerks in a finance detachment had devised a scheme under which they paid soldiers advances on their paychecks without noting the transactions in the official records. The men receiving the advances then split part of their advance pay with the clerks, the soldier said.

Although the Army investigators confirmed such happenings, the committee said, the people, the size of the thefts and the amount of money have not been determined.

The subcommittee quoted the Army as saying the partial pay operation involved a "small ring" of enlisted men at a finance detachment at the Korat Air Base.

The subcommittee also reported Army investigators said truckloads of Post Exchange merchandise were diverted into the blackmarket, usually by Thai drivers, sometimes but not always with the cooperation of GIs.

The Army also reported some promotions were falsified in Thailand so the soldier involved could collect "money owed" at the higher pay grade when he returned to the United States, the subcommittee said.

Miss U.S.A.: A Brainy Beauty With a Smidgen of Tomboy

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Debbie Shelton of Norfolk, Va., the current Miss U.S.A., loves hats, doesn't like the mid-very much, is a football fan, enjoys playing the slot machines in Las Vegas, wants to be an anesthetist and thinks women's lib "is silly."

She looked up from under a wide-brim, opened the biggest jade green eyes to highlight a beautiful face and said, "A man can live without a woman, but I don't believe a woman can live without a man."

"A woman grows up thinking about security," she added. "I think she has to enjoy being soft."

But there was a smidgen of the tomboy in our Miss U.S.A. not too long ago.

"When I was a kid, I wanted to be a paper boy," she said, "because the paper boys were always being sent to the football games."

"I can pass and kick, too," she admitted with pride.

It wasn't her brother who taught her—she's an only child. And it wasn't dad, either.

"My mom taught me," she announced pertly. "She can kick the ball clear over the top of our house."

Debbie enjoys "mini" gambling. "I won $27 in Las Vegas on the slot machines. I don't like blackjack, though. Those $100 chips scare me."

to them."

This young beauty wanted at first to study dentistry. She decided she would rather be an anesthetist because "you don't have regular hours," and she has another project she would like to attempt along with a regular job.

"I know Spanish," she said, "and I would like to do a TV program with puppets—like a continuing story each day for children, done in Spanish. Kids should learn languages young and a young teacher should appeal

Debbie believes that when you learn things you should use your knowledge to help other people. "Then you're O.K.," she added.

"The lass is precocious in a nice way," "I just gave my parents a lecture on marriage," she said. "I told them they had been married so long it was time they started to date each other again. After I talked to my dad, he gave my mother a red rose and she loved it."

"Mom looks great and keeps fit," she went on, "but dad has changed some. I told him to get with it and keep up with mom."

The new Miss U.S.A. is charming, gracious and very feminine—BUT she does have a sound head on her young shoulders. She has one more year after she returns from her tour representing the United States abroad before she can get her college degree. She would like to find a way to get it without going back to school full time.

"If I must take a year out of the public eye after my tour is over to return to Old Dominion University, I won't be a hot piece of property any more," she said seriously.

She has represented our country in Japan, Brazil, Puerto Rico and is now off to Portugal and Spain. Does she enjoy her new life?

"I love living on an expense account," she admits.

Independents Play Big Role in Election

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Historically, the most that a third-party or independent candidate can expect in an American election is to play the role of a spoiler, but this year two are favored to win.

In New York, Conservative party nominee James L. Buckley is leading both Democrat Richard Ottinger and Republican Sen. Charles E. Goodell in the polls.

And, in a less dramatic race, Virginia's Sen. Harry F. Byrd, who dropped out of the Democratic party to run for re-election as an independent, is comfortably ahead of Democrat George C. Rawlings Jr., and Republican Ray L. Garland.

The impact of third-party, or independent, candidates is less a factor in other states, but they could influence the outcome of Senate contests in Connecticut, New Mexico, Missouri and Utah, and the gubernatorial races in Arkansas and California.

In Connecticut, incumbent

Democrat Thomas J. Dodd is running as an independent. Censured by the Senate for converting campaign funds to his private use, and denied renomination by the Democratic party, Dodd may, in the end, contribute to the election of a liberal Democratic dove, the Rev. Joseph Duffey.

Polls show that Duffey, a Unitarian minister and national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, has a narrow lead over Lowell P. Weicker Jr., while Dodd is running a poor third. The main reason for Duffey's lead appears to be Republican defections to Dodd, a hawkish advocate of law and order.

In Missouri, Republicans figured they have a long-shot chance to unseat Democratic Sen. Stuart Symington. John C. Danforth, the state attorney general, filed as the Republican candidate, with White House blessing. Gene Chapman, who also had filed, promptly withdrew to become the American Party candidate, and he could siphon off some votes from Danforth.

There are some 40 minor, or third, parties on the ballots across the country. New York has seven. Colorado, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and New Jersey have five each; Colorado and Connecticut have four.

There is a Buffalo party, Consumer Party, Destroy Drug Devils, Environment Party, La Raza Unida, O'Hara Bill Party, even a Silent Majority Party. The ancient Prohibition Party is down to filing candidates for major office in only three states this year, Alabama, Kansas and Massachusetts.

Far more active are the American Independent Party—called the Independent American Party in Nevada—and the American Party. The heirs of George Wallace's 1968 presidential campaign have third-party candidates in more than 20 states. The Socialist Worker party is next with 10 and Social Labor has eight.

In Utah, the AIP has candidates for the Senate and both House seats, and if the Senate race between Democratic incumbent Frank E. Moss and Republican Laurence J. Burton is hairline close, AIP candidate Clyde B. Freeman, a retired telephone test board operator, could make the difference. Political observers see arch-conservative Freeman getting only about three per cent of the vote, taking two per cent from Republican Burton.

In some states, the Wallace heirs are split, notably in Indiana where two tried unsuccessfully to get on the ballot—as the UMERICAN Party of Indiana and the Indiana American Independence Party. The state Election Board denied both, saying neither had proved "a true line of succession" to the 1968 party. However, both groups have candidates for a variety of local offices.

The most complex lineup of minor parties is in New York where the Liberal and Conservative parties have potent influence on the two major parties. They often run the Democratic or Republican nominees as their own, but the lines are not consistent.

The Conservative Party, frequently allied with the Republicans on the local level, was organized in 1962 to combat the Liberal Party, which usually, but not always, backs Democrats. Republican Goodell is the Liberal candidate for the Senate this year, sharing the party's line on the ballot with Democrat Arthur J. Goldberg, the candidate for governor.

The Conservative and Liberal parties qualified for ballot listing by polling more than 50,000 votes in New York's last election for governor.

The others—the Conservationists, Communist, Independent Alliance, Civil Service-Independent, Social Worker and Social Labor parties—had to get on by getting 12,000 voters to sign nominating petitions for each candidate.

Monday, November 2, 1970

Alabama also has a complex ballot, with seven parties listed. Aside from the two major parties, the most potent force is the National Democratic Party of Alabama, which is running candidates for governor and 12 other top state posts, about 50 for the state legislature, about 70 for county office and six for Congress. All except about a dozen are black, led by Dr. John Cashin, a Negro dentist who is running for governor.

NDPA has a chance to elect some county officials, particularly in rural counties where blacks are a majority, and perhaps one or two state legislators.

If the governor's race in Arkansas between Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and his Democratic challenger, Dale Bumpers, is as close as forecast, the vote for the American Independent Party candidate, Walter Carruth, could be a factor. Carruth is expected to draw some Democratic votes from Bumpers.

The sponge is an animal. What we use as a sponge is really the skeleton of the animal.

It is important when you vote Tuesday that you elect full-time state officers.

I will be a full-time Lieutenant Governor. I have no commitments to teach school. I have no farm to worry about running. I was lucky enough to sell my business recently. I can devote my full efforts, 24 hours a day, to serving you.

With my experience, the 14 years in the House of Representatives, my term as Speaker of the House, and as Majority Leader, I firmly believe I can be the best Lieutenant Governor Arkansas has ever had.

I need your vote.

Sterling Cockrill serves people, not politicians.

DICK KLEINER

Animus Inspires A Funny Movie

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Out of sauerbraten and animus may come a very funny movie.

Garson Kanin and Ruth Gordon announced recently that they had teamed up with Jan Mitchell to make movies. Mitchell used to run Luchow's, the great sauerbraten parlor in downtown New York. His money, apparently, is behind the new venture, and the first thing the triumvirate did was buy Robert Carson's funny shocker, "The Golden Years Caper."

This will star Ruth Gordon, alias Mrs. Kanin, as the most menacing of a gang of criminally inclined decrepits who use their home in a retirement colony as a hideout while they rob and kill and kidnap.

Carson is 61, but no decrepit. He's a man with a great and honorable Hollywood track record—he won an Oscar for his screenplay of "A Star Is Born," and that was the first version, with Janet Gaynor. He is supplying the animus to the concoction.

"Yes," he says, permitting a small twinkle to creep into his eyes, "I wrote the book partially to get rid of my own animus in some directions. I hate insurance companies and I hate rock 'n' roll singers and I'm a member of USHS (U.S. Humane Society) so I hate people who are cruel to animals."

Insurance companies, rock-and-roll singers and a cruel-to-animal person are, by a cheerful coincidence, among the chief victims of "The Golden Years Caper" capers.

Carson says his attitude toward life changed four years ago, when he had a serious operation from which he was not expected to recover. Before then, he had been writing serious, weighty things. Now he is writing to amuse himself. He'll also write the screen play for his book, which will be the first one he has written in 10 years.

Some people have criticized his book because they felt it might lead some impressionable old people into doing something criminal.

"Oh, I certainly hope so," says Carson.

The next trend, suddenly, is here. It looks like a spate of supernatural, witchy, E.S.P. films and television shows.

Almost every studio has a movie either in front of the cameras or being prepared for shooting. And TV? Sure, you'll see spooky shows on a ghost-to-ghost hook-up.

Biggest guessing game around town now is who'll play the title role and the other leading parts in "The Godfather." Paramount has signed Francis Ford Coppola to direct, and Mario Puzo is writing the screenplay of his own best seller, but the casting hasn't been announced.

Ernest Borgnine admits he'd like to play the title role, and Gary Crosby is going all out for the part of Tom Hagen, the young Irishman who is high up in the Mafia family. Robert Forster is being considered for Michael, the heir-apparent.

Chances are there will be two stars—playing the Godfather and Michael—with unknowns in other key roles. That's the word from a good source, but even he admits it's just an educated guess.

Probably the most dangerous fish in the world is the 12-inch-long piranha, which has razor-sharp teeth and strong jaws. There are records of piranhas reducing a 100-pound animal to a skeleton in less than a minute.

Summary.

In the past months I have done my best to bring my record, my convictions and my plans to you, the people of Arkansas. During my travels throughout the state, I have talked with thousands of you. You have welcomed me warmly, and for this I am grateful.

Still, I have missed seeing many of you. And I am sorry. Now, as the campaign draws to a close, may I ask you:

When you go to the polls on November 3, do not forget our record of accomplishment. We have worked together for progress, and the last four years have abounded with it.

I have always wanted only what was good for our state. That is all I have worked for in the past. That is all I will strive for in the future.

Candidates Agree on Library Tax

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The three candidates for governor have agreed on at least one thing in Tuesday's general election — their support of a proposed increase in the corporate franchise tax to finance the construction of a state library building.

Some voters may be surprised to find the proposal on their ballots Tuesday because little public attention has been paid it. No organization opposition has developed against the tax.

Under the proposal, referred to the voters by the 1969 legislature, the corporate franchise tax would be raised from 11 one-hundredths of 1 per cent to 13 one-hundredths of 1 per cent.

The proposed act would raise the minimum tax paid by corporations from $11 to $31 a year. No corporation, no matter how large, would pay more than $5,000 a year.

The act would authorize the state Library Commission to issue up to $3 million in construction bonds to build the state library building on the state Capitol grounds.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, in endorsing the proposal earlier this week, said support of the state library was not a partisan issue. He said the need for the building was urgent.

Dale Bumpers, the Democratic nominee for governor, urged the voters to join him in supporting the project because the "benefits will far outweigh the costs." Walter Caruth, the American party nominee, said he supported the measure because "there is no question as to how this tax will be used."

The state Library Commission is now housed in a commercial building. Dr. Bessie Moore, commission chairman, said the commission is now limited in what it can do because of a lack of space.

She said the library building would be a facility that would serve regional, county and local public libraries, serve as a reference library for state agencies and be a depository of publications of the federal government.

Dr. Moore said the state library was not receiving federal documents because there is no place to house them. She said it was important that the state have these documents, particularly those on research, because of the help they would be to Arkansas businessmen and industry.

She said the availability of source material would be one more factor in the state's industrial growth.

"Industry coming into the state is deeply concerned about getting technical information," Dr. Moore said. "While we do the best we can now, we don't have the facilities."

She said the Library Commission, in its present location, also had been unable to introduce computer technology to its work.

A cartoon by Jeff Smith. A man in a dark suit and tie is laughing hysterically, leaning forward with his mouth wide open. He is holding a briefcase in his right hand. A woman is sitting in a chair, looking at him. A speech bubble from the woman says "JACKPOT! SAY, THAT'S CUTE!". The man's laughter is represented by the text "HA HA HA HA HA HA" above him. The cartoon is signed "JEFF SMITH" in the bottom right corner.
